The Rockport Shore

ROCKPORT is facing a problem which students of the situation know it must face very soon. During the week suit has been brought seeking to restrain a glue company and others from the pollution of the water of Cape Pond, from which the town supply has been obtained. In addition a letter has been published from the State Board of Health calling attention to the very unsanitary nature of the water supply.

The SHORE does not wish to print anything inimical to the interest of any section and exercises great care in this respect. In this most important matter, however, the facts have already been given wide publicity through the public press, so discussion of the matter is in order.

Now, then, what is the remedy? If Rockport is to develop as a summer resort, in fact if the health of its permanent residents is of consequence, something must be done at once.

Pure water is a distinct asset in building up a summer resort and conversely a polluted supply is the worst possible argument against a given locality. The trouble with the Rockport water source is that it is inadequate especially in the summer time. What is the least expensive and yet the most satisfactory remedy? Obviously another supply. Even if the glue works be enjoined from operation altogether there yet remains the other sources of pollution indicated by the Board of Health, that of ice cutting and the numerous summer camps on the shore of the lake. Some years ago public spirited citizens of the town took the initiative in this matter and went to the courts seeking to prevent such uses, but the courts decided that these occupants had a right to pursue their business and retain their camps. So unless this judgment is reversed these sources of pollution, some of the worst in the category, will still remain.

The writer has made a study of this problem on Cape Ann and will offer briefly a few suggestions. In the summer time purchase by meter a supply from Gloucester, which has one of the finest supplies in the state. Gloucester has three water basins, controls its water sheds absolutely, and its water is free from sewage of all kinds. One of these basins, Wallace Pond, it is proposed to improve and increase until its capacity will be three or four times as much as at present. When this is done Gloucester will have water enough to furnish all Cape Ann for six months, even if a drought prevailed all the time. The town officials could make some such arrangement and as the mains extend almost to the Rockport line, this junction would be easy. If thought feasible, the town could rely on Cape Pond water in the fall, winter and spring. Gloucester would probably enter into such an arrangement and it would involve absolutely no outlay for the town beyond the water tax. Such arrangements are made elsewhere, terminating at the option of either party.

An alternative is to go to the Legislature and secure rights on Dogtown Commons, that immense area in the heart of the Cape. Here there is a natural water shed and artificial lake only requiring damming at one end, near Goose Cove, where in early days there was a grist mill. This tract formerly belonged to the Commoners, an organization of early settlers of the entire Cape when Gloucester included

East Gloucester

THE end of August finds the season at its apex with the promise that it will be extended well into September, one of the finest months at East Gloucester. The cooling breezes sweeping over the two golf links situated on the moorlands, make the coming months par excellence for that diversion. A round of gayety will be crowded into next week, for with September the imperative call comes to many who must be at home to prepare for the schools and the other duties which may not be deferred.

Mrs. Halliday and Miss Catherine Halliday of Boston, are guests at the Harbor View. Miss Halliday is pronounced one of the belles of the East Gloucester season.

GOLDENROD and golden glow! Yellow is the sign of approaching fall and the gardens, highway and byways are aflower with these harbingers of September.

The Green Gables Club continues to be the focussing point of North Shore society. Saturday night after the Oceanside dance the scene was especially lively and many merry dinner parties were in order, among those entertaining being Mrs. M. M. White, Mrs. Kohler, Mrs. Secor and Dr. Lawrence of Malden.

Quite a party motored down from Beach Bluffs for dinner including Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kerr, Mrs. B. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Squires, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Foster.

THE goddesses, gods, nymphs and satyrs of Greek mythology were summoned back to earth Wednesday night at the Arcadian summer residence of Charles Grafly the sculptor at Folly Cove. The settings were entirely in keeping in this woodland bower beside the sea. The moon shone resplendently and nothing was lacking to conjure up to the imagination the revels of the Greek mythological era. The entire production was carefully and artistically staged. Peter Pan with his pipe headed a procession of the gods and nymphs around the trees and woodland the participants appropriately costumed and skipping to the rhythm of the classic dances. They were followed by a series of classic and sylvan dances by the students, which called forth much applause. A game was played at which the students posed as statues of Pan, Satyr, Endymion, Socrates, Diana, Spring, Pandora, and so forth. Aerial stunts were performed, which called forth much merriment, as well as rope climbing by George Denetrius and Miss Dorothy Grafly. A tug-of-war was indulged in by teams under the leadership of Miss Klauder and Mr. Cole. The result was a draw.

Statues and statuettes were placed at intervals through the grove. The presiding genius was a statute of Pan, to whom all paid obeisance. The Greek costumes were very pretty and artistic, and were made by the students themselves. The grounds were beautifully decorated with American flags, and a Greek flag made the scene more realistic. The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grafly welcomed all the guests.

The dancers and their costumes were: C. E. Cole, Satyr; George Denetrius of Macedonia, Endymion; Miss Mary Grossbeck of Cincinnati, pale brown Greek dress trimmed with cup leaves; Mrs. Mary Alexander of Cincinnati, white Greek gown decked with laurel leaves; Miss Idele Schulenburg of St. Louis, sun follower with gorgeous dress trimmed with sunflowers; Miss Mary Crossman, Spring, with pale green trimmed with wild flowers; Miss Mary Klauder of Philadelphia, Greek costume; Miss Millie Frisbie, beautiful Greek costume of white over pink; Miss Dorothy Grafly, Diana; Miss Ivonetta Shaw, Diana's follower.

After the dancing refreshments consisted appropriately of nectar and ambrosia. Miss Mary Klauder served punch and fruit.

In the studio where Mr. Grafly is doing the finishing work on a large group for the San Francisco exhibition. It is entitled "The Pioneer Mothers." There are three figures in the gronp with two bas reliefs, representing Past and Present. After the repast the merriment was kept up with dancing and a general good time.

At the Club house Saturday afternoon the usual afternoon tea was held and was largely attended. Mrs. Charles Connor and Mrs. Lewis E. Tifft were at the tea tables and were assisted by Miss Harriet Arthur, Miss Margaret Brown, Miss Hilda Prince, Miss Doris Norwood and Miss Margaret Rice.

An assembly that taxed the capacity of the hall was present at the dance in the evening. The matrons were Mrs. Henry A. W. Wood and Mrs. Philip Coyle.

Another pop concert will be given at the club house Saturday evening, August 30th.

TO ADVERTISERS

The CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its seventeenth consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts.

ET EGO IN ARCADIA

(John Northern Hilliard in Lippincott's Magazine.)

Where are the loves of yesterday?
Sad and sweet is the old refrain;
Horace sang of it half in play;
Villon, in measures that throb with pain;
Life at the best is a tangled skein,
We are the tools of time and chance,
Yet once on a time we lived in Spain,
And every heart has its old romance.

Where are the loves of yesterday?
Ah, for an hour of youth again—
Youth that was short as a month of May,
Youth with its pulsing blood and brain;
Too soon came Autumn with mist and rain,
Too brief the dream, too short the dance;
Yet once on a time we lived in Spain,
And every heart has its old romance.

Where are the loves of yesterday?
Here is a note with a yellow stain,
And here in a book a withered spray
Of sweet alyssum for years has lain.
But why regret? All things must wane,
Life's sweetest note, loves fondest glance;
Yet once on a time we lived in Spain,
And every heart has its old romance.

Yachting on Cape Ann

Cape Ann naturally is the home of yachting. With two such fine courses as offer in Gloucester harbor and outside in the bay on the southerly side, and that in Ipswich Bay at Annisquam, it is not strange that the game has flourished without interruption for the past 35 years, the Gloucester club, the successor of the Cape Ann yacht club, and the Annisquam club maintaining the traditions of the sport on the Cape. The game has had a glorious past, as those familiar with its local history are aware.

In the beginning George Wheeler with his center-boarders, including the famous Black Cloud, produced winners which held their own with any boats turned out. Then the sport was followed largely by the permanent as well as the summer folk, and grand times these regattas were. The races for the Tappan cup in Gloucester Bay and the 250th anniversary race in 1892—are they not a part of the indelible, happy records in the memories of the old-time yachtsmen?

Now, however, the game, with the exception of the Gloucester club, has gotten down to the sport of the summer people. Here at East Gloucester, town and summer colony mix. In recent years the cost has mounted too swiftly for the purse of a man of moderate means. Formerly a boat was good for at least ten years and the upkeep was moderate. Later an expensive boat every year and high cost of maintenance drove the man of moderate purse out. Now, however, there is a return to first principles.

At Annisquam the success of the one design catboat class has been most pronounced and has been the undoubted means of preventing interest in yachting there from practically dying out. The one design class is inexpensive in its initial outlay, involves a moderate cost of upkeep and has the elements of permanency, that is, a new boat will not be required every year.

There is no more healthful sport than yachting. Motor boating, despite the prediction, has not hurt it in the least on Cape Ann. On the contrary interest is constantly growing. Long may it survive as an attraction and diversion in local waters.

Rockport and the Shore Drive

For some years advocates of an all shore drive around the Cape have met the opposition of certain trade interests in Rockport which calculate that if this road across the head of Long Beach connecting with Land's End is built that trade will be deflected to Gloucester. The County Commissioners and the state highway officials recommend that the job be done but the town of Rockport hesitates.

The SHORE thinks that if the job is blocked because of the fear that the trade will go to Gloucester that those who harbor this opinion are mistaken. The fine state highway offers facilities for quick light auto delivery and the writer notes during his trips in Pigeon cove and other parts of Rockport the light delivery autos of Gloucester provisions and other dealers constantly delivering goods. The fact is the larger center will inevitably attract trade. Boston attracts from Gloucester in certain lines and so Gloucester will attract from Rockport. Larger cities have stores with larger stocks and greater varieties for selection.

If residents of Rockport want anything in Gloucester the electric cars and private autos, with the auto delivery service, make this easy. On the other hand if this connecting stretch of road is built much valuable taxable property will be added to the town's assets and it will open up a most desirable building section.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Weyman, Miss Flint of Bellows Falls, Vt., and E. P. Linzee of Boston were a party entertained at the Green Gables Tuesday.

Mrs. J. P. Hood of Baltimore gave a bridge to sixteen Monday afternoon at the Green Gables. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift entertained twelve at bridge Wednesday night.

The Thursday evening dance at the Green Gables is the feature of the week with Le Seville as the premier danseuse. Among those who had tables with parties at this function were W. H. Roberts of the Oceanside who had a party of thirty, Charles Phelps, Mrs. Kohler and Mr. and Mrs. Eiseman.

This has been tennis week and the Oceanside courts have presented a lively appearance.

The cream of the North shore amateurs have been among the entrants, the play has been lively and the weather superb although the wind at times has been a trifle high.

George A. Barnes of Muskogee, Ok., has joined his mother Mrs. George W. Barnes a season's guest at the Oceanside.

Mrs. David I. Lanman and chauffeur of Baltimore with a patty including Mrs. Van Buren, Mrs. William H. Johnson and F. G. Potter who are motoring through the country spent a week at the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O. Swan of Lowell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stevens of Lowell comprised a party who made a brief stay at the Oceanside this week.

J. H. Cogill of Morristown, N. J., who was here the first of the season has returned for an end of the season stay.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moffett of New York city who are new comers at the Oceanside plan to make a stay into September.

AUTOMOBILISTS, ATTENTION!

The attention of all automobilists is called to the following provisions of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts Relative to Motor Vehicle Laws, Acts of 1909, Chap. 534, Section 14:

SECTION 14. Every person operating a motor vehicle shall bring the vehicle and the motor propelling it immediately to a stop when approaching a horse or other draft animal being led, ridden or driven, if such animal appears to be frightened and if the person in charge thereof shall signal so to do; and, if travelling in the opposite direction to that in which such animal is proceeding, said vehicle shall remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass; or, if travelling in the same direction, the person operating shall use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or other animal. In approaching or passing a car of a street railway which has been stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down and if it be necessary for the safety of the public he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop. Upon approaching a pedestrian who is upon the travelled part of any way and not upon a sidewalk, or where the operator's view is obstructed either upon approaching an intersecting way or a curve or corner in a way, every person operating a motor vehicle shall slow down and give a timely signal with his bell, horn or other device for signalling:

Provided, that in the thickly settled parts of a city or town no bell, horn or other device for signalling shall be sounded so as to make a harsh, objectionable or unreasonable noise, except in the case of fire and police department vehicles and ambulances; and provided, further, that no operator of any motor vehicle shall at any time permit any unreasonable amount of smoke to escape from said motor vehicle, nor shall said operator at any time permit said motor vehicle to make any unnecessary noise, by cutting out the muffler, or otherwise.

The driver of any motor vehicle on any highway approaching a crossing of ways, shall slow down and keep to the right of the intersection of the centres of both ways, when turning to the right, and shall pass to the right of the intersection of the centres of said ways before turning to the left.

Miss Olga Lingard won the cup for the runner up in the woman's singles at the recent Squam tournament.

Mrs. William J. Nagel entertained on Tuesday at the Barnacle a few guests at bridge whist. Mrs. John P. Bartlett of Annisquam Heights captured the prize.

Miss Josephine Woods of Winchester made a charming hostess to a party of fifteen of her young friends on Friday afternoon. Both bridge and five hundred were played.

Last Wednesday night when the fire-works at Gloucester were supposed to have acted as a magnet to all the pleasure seekers of Cape Ann, the Grand View Hotel at Annisquam served as the stage of an exceptionally gay scene. Dancing was, of course, the order of the evening, but for the first time in the season a varied program was enjoyed, and the one-step in its many tortuous and tortured forms gave way for whole moments to the Sailor's Hornpipe, va souvienne, yea, and even the Highland Fling. The guests promenaded the spacious piazzas of the hotel between the dances and enjoyed the rockets and Roman candles which burst beyond the hills which separate Gloucester from Annisquam and were reflected in the mirror-like surface of the Squam River.

F. A. Crookshank of New York is registered at the Grand View for a stay into September.

Manchester-by-the-Sea

At a special town meeting Monday night it was voted to instal a sewerage system at an estimated expense of $225,000. The meeting was very largely attended, including many summer residents.

Major Henry L. Higginson was among the speakers who strongly favored installing the system. "Doctors today," he said, "are arguing preventative medicine and that is what Manchester wants to do, prevent disease and keep herself pure and healthful."

Gordon Abbott of the sewerage committee answered several questions, S. Parker Bremer, C. W. Taintar and Dr. G. H. Washburn joining in the debate. The vote accepting the act was 112 in the affirmative and 76 in the negative.

A committee was appointed to nominate a sewerage committee and the meeting adjourned to August 30th.

This afternoon the annual water sports at the Manchester Yacht Club are being held. An interesting program has been arranged by the committee of which Charles E. Hodge is chairman. It will include walking the pole, tub race, senior and junior swimming races, diving contest, one-end canoe race and obstacle canoe race. Tea was served after the sports.

It is expected that the revised plans for the new clubhouse of the Essex County club will be ready in a few weeks.

Samuel A. Culbertson who has purchased the Isaac S. West estate at Manchester Cove, has returned from Louisville, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Clark, Jr., plan to leave with a party of friends on the Savarona for a cruise to York Harbor and the Maine coast. They have just returned from a cruise with the New York Yacht club fleet.

Mrs. Herbert Clarke of Philadelphia is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clarke, Jr., who have also been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Park and children. Mrs. Park is a sister of Mrs. Clarke.

C. E. Fisher, President. George H. Perkins, Vice-President. Horace A. Smith, Treasurer.

Rockport. Gloucester would certainly heartily cooperate in this endeavor. It is up to Rockport to do something and right away. The facts can no longer be hidden, have been given wide publicity. Besides it is apparent with the growth of the town that the Cape Pond is not of sufficient capacity to supply enough pure water in summer.

One of the hotels, The Edward, at Pigeon Cove, derives its entire supply from a spring of large capacity on its premises, and others make similar independent provisions. But the town as a whole depends upon its municipal water supply.

W. C. Thalheimer and family of Cincinnati, who have been coming to Pigeon Cove for the past twenty years, are again numbered among the cottage contingent. Their home is on Gale avenue.

Miss Emily A. Moulton of Monument Sq., Charlestown, has returned to her cottage, Meadowcliffe, on Phillips ave. for the season.

Mr. Arthur R. Henderson and family of Cambridge have the Judge Thompson cottage on Phillips ave., Pigeon Cove.

George W. Merrill and Miss Annie G. Merrill of Jamaica Plain have the cottage of their father, the late Moses Merrill, who was one of the original Pigeon Cove colony. Their place is on Phillips ave.

Dr. and Mrs. De Bennevile Ludwig are at Rockledge, Point du Chene ave., where they have made their summer home for the past ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davison of New York are occupying the Chapin cottage on Point du Chene ave. Mrs. Davison is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Chapin, the celebrated Universalist divine, who was the first to discover the beauties of Pigeon Cove. Chapin's gully is named for him.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Frothingham, a connection of the Chapins, of New York, are also in the Chapin cottage.

Frank E. Cutter and family of Concord are passing the season at their summer home, Pine Grove cottage.

Others of the older members of the Pigeon Cove colony who still return to Pigeon Cove are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Emery of New York. Their cottage is on Gale ave.

Mrs. L. G. Brewer of Philadelphia has a cottage on Phillips ave.

Dr. George W. Ewing and family of Middleton are among the new comers and have a cottage on Gale avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Webster of Worcester are, as for several years, passing the season at their cottage near Andrew's point. Mr. and Mrs. Webster are both enthusiastic yachtsmen and their yacht, the Lila M., is a frequent winner in the regattas of the Gloucester Yacht Club, of which Mr. Webster was recently elected fleet captain.

Frederick H. Ripley and Mrs. Ellor Carlisle Ripley of 1247 Commonwealth ave., Boston, are at "Surf Song," their cottage on Point du Chene ave. for the season.

William L. Nash and family of Brookline are at their Point du Chene cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hatch of Lowell are at their Cottage on Long Branch ave.

Clement L. Gazzam and family of Birmingham, Ala., annual cottagers here, are passing the season at the Brooks cottage.

Miss Elizabeth H. Bartol of Boston has returned to her cottage on Phillips ave., Pigeon Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Brewer of Brookline, as for many seasons, are spending the summer at their Point du Chene cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Herbert Wilkins of Middleton are at their cottage on Gale ave.

Mrs. Walter White of Newton is occupying her cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith of Brookline are again at Cedar cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Simpson are established in the picturesque stone cottage on the tip of Halibut point known formerly as the Way villa.

Thomas Paine and family of Birmingham, Ala., are new comers to Pigeon cove this season and have a cottage corner of Phillips and Haven avenues.

Among the real estate conveyances of the week are the following: Charles E. Morrill of Boston conveys to Harry Dutton of Medford, 20,000 square feet of land on Marmion Way: also 10,056 feet of upland and 5040 feet between the edge of the upland and mean high water on Marmion Way on plan of Stonehaven.

Minnie S. Hertkorn et. al. of Woburn, conveys to George W. Harvey of Boston, land and buildings, Marmion Way, 103 by 262 feet.

The above are well known summer residents. Mr. Dutton is of Houghton and Dutton and for the first year spent the season in Rockport occupying the Strecker cottage at Land's End.

THE VAICES THAT BE GONE

By William Barnes
"Poems in Dorsetshire Dialect"

When evenen shiades o' trees da hide
A body by the hedge's zide,
An' twittren birds in playsome flight
Da flee to roost at comen night,
Then I da santer out o' zight
In archet, where the pliace oence rung
Wi' lafes a-rised and zongs a-zung
By vaices that be gone.

Ther's still the tree that bore our zwing,
An' t'others wher' the birds did zing;
But long-leav'd docks da auvergrow
The groun' we trampled bare below,
Wi' merry skippens to an' fro,
Bezide the banks wher' Jim did zit
A-playin' on the claranit
The vaices that be gone.

How mother, when we used to stun
Her head wi' all our noisy fun,
Did wish us all a-gone vrom zome;
An' now that zome be be dead and zome
Be gone, an' all the pliace be dum',
How she da' wish, in useless tears,
To have agen about her ears
The vaices that be gone.

Var all the maidens and the boys,
But I, be marri'd off all ways,
Ar' dead an' gone; but I da bide
At huome aloume at mother's zide,
An' offen at the eventide
I still da santer out wi' tears
Doun droo the archet, where my ears
Da miss the vaices gone.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Gardner of Augusta, Ga., will stay until Labor Day at the Rockaway.

C. M. Anderson of Detroit has joined his family at the Rockaway for the rest of the month.

Miss Anna Wirz and Miss Wirz of New York are among the August registrations at the Rockaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Voorhees of New Brunswick, N. J., are making their initial stay at East Gloucester and the Rockaway.

Charles A. Westcutt of Jersey City who was here earlier in the season has returned for a stay into September.

Mrs. N. Allen Stockton of Philadelphia is making her first stay on Cape Ann with headquarters at the Rockaway. Mrs. Stockton's sister, Mrs. Freeman, wife of Dr. Freeman, is occupying the Colby cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Dennison of Waltham are making an August stay at the Rockaway. Mr. Dennison enjoying the deep sea fishing.

J. H. Jenkins and family of Schenectady, N. Y., have taken apartments at the Rockaway through September.

The guests of the Rockaway enjoyed a straw ride Thursday night to Manchester and back. The old fashioned hay rack has gone by the board for these purposes and the modern motor truck is substituted in its stead. Two were brought into requisition and filled with a merry throng, who with horns and other noisy implements made it evident that the Rockaway guests are a lively crowd. The chaperone was Mrs. Wyckoff of Springfield.

Mr. William Guckenberger and son Edwin of Cincinnati have joined the rest of the family at the Rockaway for an August stay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brady of Des Moines, with granddaughter, Miss Edith Bull of Mason City, Iowa, are making a stay at the Rockaway for the first time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Blake of Boston are making an end of the season sojourn at the Harbor View.

Mrs. J. E. Woods of Winchester, and daughter, Mrs. James W. Elliott of Bedford, former patrons of the Harbor View, are again at that hostelry.

Mrs. S. A. Gage and daughter, Mrs. Caroline G. Baker of Boston, former Gloucester residents, are among the recent arrivals at the Harbor View.

Fire Commissioner Charles H. Cole and family, and Mrs. Frank B. Willson of Boston are registered for August at the Harbor View.

Robert Mudie of Philadelphia who some years ago was a patron of the Harbor View, returned last week for the rest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Mechlin of Washington who for many years have made a stay at the Harbor View, have returned.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Walter Mason of Pittsburg are among the Harbor View guests. Rev. Mr. Mason who is the pastor of a flourishing Unitarian church in Pittsburg was formerly minister of the First parish (Unitarian) in Gloucester and officiated at the marriage of Proprietor and Mrs. Walter F. Osborne.

There was a crush at the masked ball of the Hawthorne Inn guests Saturday evening, the record attendance, 752, being registered. Special effort had been given to original and attractive makeups and some really effective costumes were noted. The prizes were won as follows: Handsomest lady, Mrs. Arthur Merriam of New York, as a Colonial dame, and the first for the handsomest man by John Thompson of New York, who was resplendent in the gorgeous costume of a Colonial gentleman; the prizes for the most grotesque characters were awarded Evan S. Cameron of Boston and his side partner, Max Ratchesky of Boston as Italian organ grinders, and Mrs. Jackson Piper of Baltimore as a dressing table. The best disguise went to the inevitable Jeff and Mutt, without whom no well regulated costume party is complete, impersonated by Mrs. Shepard of Philadelphia and Mrs. George Higinbotham of Toronto. Some of the costumes and their wearers: Margaret Montgomery, Mrs. Tom Vickery and Elizabeth Webb, Hoochi-Koochi dancers; Mrs. Ratchesky, Buster Brown; May Cogan, old lady; Mrs. Cameron, little girl; Mr. Wakefield, Chinaman; Kennard Wakefield, Chinese woman; Mrs. Wilson, Burgomaster's wife; Albert Kelly, bathing girl; Mr. Dick Allen, cadaver; Jack Howard, toreador; Mr. Wiggins, Mexican; Richard Walker, clown; Charlotte Denison, peasant; Mrs. Denison, old lady; Mr. Ratchesky, organ grinder; Ross Thomson, pirate; Greek dancers, led by Miss Ryan: Misses Helen Kelly, Marguerite Hughes, Margaret Read, Edith Holder, Margaret Clark, Gladys Perry, Stella Garret, Luella Gear, Olive Nichols, Teddy Elwell, Florence Howard; Ned Barbour, girl; Howard Hart, chef; Mr. Miles, girl; Marion Dana, Pierrote; Bernard Feustman, Pierrotte; Mrs. Howard, fruit vender; Mrs. Fairfax and children, fairy queen; B. F. Taylor, Cardinal Richelieu; Tom Vickery, sailor; Mrs. Conrad Read, groom; Mr. N. Guernsey, waiter; John Garret, gentleman; George Reed, his sister; Stanley Taylor, newsboy; John Gray, pickaninny; Isabel Fishburn, Pierrette; Marjorie Wilson, Yama Yama, Mrs. Streubing, blue vision.

The judges were: Mrs. Harcourt, Mrs. Read, Mrs. Ridgeley, Mr. Cooper, Capt. Gibson, Mrs. Vickery.

Miss E. Florence Harvey and Miss Christine A. Rice of Worcester, will spend the rest of August at the Rockaway.

Mrs. Sarah E. Goodhue of Hyde Park with Miss Lydia A. Richardson of Newton have arrived at the Rockaway for a stay.

ROCKHOLM

IN ANNISQUAM

¶ To those who have not experienced the joys of a summer at Annisquam the following will be interesting and valuable.

ANNISQUAM has had a growth, especially during the past ten years, that has achieved the ideal combination for the summer home — beauty, cool comfort and simplicity with residences of high class. The best residential sections are reached by roads hidden from the casual tourist and for this reason the attractiveness of these sections is, perhaps, not fully realized.

ROCKHOLM is a large and beautiful tract, naturally and unusually adapted for fine summer homes. Every site is one of independent and varied attraction. The open sea, hills, rocks and woods give their best to Rockholm. Fine roads wind through this property from which the beauties of Annisquam may be seen at their best.

The Edward is establishing itself more firmly every day as a port of call and is fast assuming the place the Colonial Arms occupied at East Gloucester, automobilists making it the objective for a days outing in addition to its regular clientage. The piazzas and grill room are lively and inviting nowadays with merry parties from all down the shore.

Under four flags is the Edward, and a quartette of gonfalons fly from the staves of the house. Those of the New York yacht club, the alma mater of Prop. Wilson, Columbia college and of his native state Pennsylvania and last, but by no means, least, that of the Old Bay state. That of the New York yacht club was flown in honor of the recent appearance in Gloucester harbor of the club and in passing by Rockport the members of the fleet discerned the emblem and came ashore and paid their respects to the proprietor. These latter included James D. Spelman, James B. Ford and A. H. H. Johnson of the schooner yacht Katrina.

Among the guests of the Edward who are enjoying the beauties of the locality are Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Davis, Miss Davis, F. G. B. Higgins, Miss Higgins, Fitchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wiltsie, Mrs. James Wiltsie and chauffeur, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Job, Miss Ely, Alton, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Livingstone Cushing, the Misses Paine H. E. Childs and chauffeur, Brookline; Mrs. C. E. Bond, Mrs. Potter, Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phelps, Rockville, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Southworth, London, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ernst, Miss Sarah Ernst, Roy Allen, Covington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Putnam, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dyson, Hudson.

Among the many luncheon guests have been Mrs. Herbert Hostetter who motored down Tuesday from Pride's with a party of four and inspected the house and were entertained at luncheon.

The Gloucester correspondent of the Boston Globe had the following in last Sunday's issue:

"The centennial of an event of historic interest, which the citizens of Rockport propose to recognize, will occur Sept. 8 of next year and already preliminary plans to that end have been formulated.

Sept. 8, 1814, the British frigate Nymph, which for two years had been stationed off Cape Ann and had made several attacks on Sandy Bay, now Rockport, anchored in the night near the town and, under cover of a thick fog, the commander sent two barge loads of marines ashore. The oarlocks were muffled to deaden all sound. One barge landed at Long Cove, suprised the sentinel of a small fort there, made prisoners of the garrison and spiked and dismantled the guns.

The second barge load proceeded to land on the western side of Bearskin Neck, when a more vigilant sentinel observed them, ran to the church and rang the bell, sounding a general alarm, to which the townspeople quickly responded. The company of Sea Fencibles quickly ranged itself for action and directed a fire of musketry on the barge party, the latter returning a fusilade of grape shot. No one was injured on either side.

In order to silence the bell solid shot was fired at the church from the gun in the barge. The ball took effect, but the recoil was such that the seams were started and the boat filled rapidly and the crew were forced to jump for the shore in order to save themselves. Some of the officers and men ran across the neck to another boat, in which they made their escape, but the rest were taken prisoners.

In view of this mishap the detachment which captured the garrison deemed it prudent to reembark and get to their ship. In the meantime word had been sent to Gloucester Harbor and Col. Appleton with 1500 men came down to the assistance of the local men, but not before the invaders had drawn off.

What the outcome would have been had the mishap to the British not occurred, is a matter of speculation. The British might have been successful in burning the town, which it was said was their intent.

The old gun which saved the day was raised in the sunken boat and for years has been an ornament to the Town Hall yard. Their is no inscription to tell its history to inquirers.

A committee comprising Judge Sumner D. York, Albert H. French, George Ira Tarr, Dr. E. E. Cleaves, Charles H. Cleaves and others have canvassed the matter and from what they can gather think the occasion can best be observed by combined historical exercises illustrated by a pageant depicting some episodes in the history of Sandy Bay, as this section of Cape Ann was originally called.

The coming of the first settler, Richard Tarr, to Sandy Bay in 1690, followed by John Poole in 1700; the escape of James Babson with his mother from Salem during the witchcraft excitement and his flight with her to what is now Pigeon Cove, where in 1692 he built a house which is still standing; the repulse of the British by the Sea Fencibles, representations of colonial social life and other historical events are among the features which the committee contemplate featuring. Some favor placing the date just before Labor Day before the throngs have left Cape Ann, believing that the historical verities will not be violated materially if such action is taken."

Many of the summer residents are much interested in this celebration and promised it their support. It will probably be featured by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Haskin's hospital next year pageantry being interspersed with a short historical address. There are big possibilities in this event.

Tuesday, Mrs. Steiner entertained twenty-four guests at bridge; Mrs. Kerr entertained twelve at bridge; Miss Kline entertained six at tea.

Tuesday evening, Mrs. R. G. Wilson was hostess at a bridge party and a refreshing supper was served.

Wednesday, Mrs. Vickery received forty guests at bridge. Miss Sacker was hostess at a tea party of eight.

Thursday, Mrs. Gibson was hostess at a bridge party; Mrs. Coakley entertained twenty guests at tea.

Friday, Mrs. Butler received eighteen guests at a bridge party.

Saturday Mrs. Ridgeley entertained twelve guests at a bridge party.

Miss Ella J. Fraser and fiance, A. S. Holloway, of Providence, have joined Miss Ella's sister, Mary Fraser, and will remain until Labor Day.

Thursday there was held on the grounds of Mailman House a very pretty Lawn Fête in the evening with tableaux given by children and a few of the guests for the benefit of the Girls Club of Gloucester. The varied-colored Japanese lanterns lent a charming attraction to nearby resident cottages and hotels.

It was pronounced a decided success by those present. A tidy sum was realized.

Following is the program:—

1. Little Women: Margaret Miller, Isabel Flshburn, Laura Steel, Helen Jack.

2. Pipe Dreams: (a) His First Love, Gwendolyn Miller, aged six; (b) The School-Girl, Helen Miller, aged nine, (c) The Summer Girl, Isabel Fishburn; (d) The Bride, Helen Jack.

3. Two Rembrandt Pictures by Shirley Bolton, aged nine.

4. Iolanthe Dance by Susan Steele.

5. Two Aesthetic Dances by Miss Lilias MacLane.

6. Carmencita Dance by Margaret Miller.

7. (a) Minuet of 18th Century in costume by Isabel Fishburn and Helen Jack. (b) Modern Dances: Turkey Trot, Tango, One-Step, with modern costume, Helen Miller and Shirley Bolton, two nine year olds.

8. Latest Salvation Army Songs by Mrs. Walter Miller and Miss Helen Wood, in costume.

9. Original Monologue by Mrs. Albert Lewis, "Heard on the Beach."

10. Conclusion, Dancing.

Ice cream, lemonade and cake were served. Miss Mabel Going presided at the piano. The success was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Steele.

Arrivals at the Beechcroft:—C. S. Holcomb, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Burt, Springfield; Mrs. Stevens George Cowdrey, Mary Hall Cowdrey, Ruth Cowdrey, Carlisle, Penn.; W. M. ADJUTANT CHAS. A. GUNN
In Command The Salvation Army, Gloucester, Mass.

"The annual outing for needy mothers and children which Adjutant and Mrs. Charles A. Gunn are working up is one of those objects that appeal to all. The Salvation Army each season for some years past has taken many from homes where there is but little pleasure, and so this days outing with all the children and their mothers, means much to them and indeed they look forward to it each year as a great event.

Adjutant Gunn has sent out appeals for contributons for this worthy object, so don't forget to send along your mite either large or small. This outing takes place August 29th. The address of Adjutant Gunn is 23 Duncan street, Gloucester. Make all checks payable to "The Salvation Army" and help along a good cause. Dinner and a lunch will be served before starting for home, so the "ARMY" can use Ham, Bread, Butter, Cakes, Fruit, Candy, etc."
